Foresees Socialized Medicine In U. S.

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (A)-The president of the American Osteopathic Assn. says he believes socialized medicine is inevitable within 10 years.

"We have gone so far down the road in that direction it is doubtful if we can turn back now," Dr. Robert D. McCullough, Tulsa, Okla., said Tuesday night at the annual dinner of the Kansas State Osteopathic Assn.

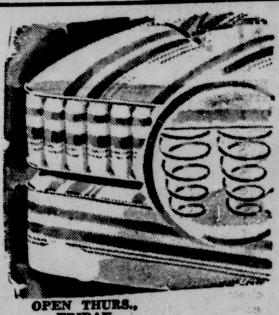

Socialized medicine is not necessarily desirable, McCullough said, but medical groups can make it more acceptable if they realize the inevitable. He said the patient's freedom in choosing a doctor can be mainained to some degree.

Benson Makes History

Exta Taft Benson, U.S. Secretary of agriculture has returned to the news in a statement without precedent in political history.

The policy of paying subsidies to agricultural producers, he has told Congress, is a failure. The soil bank policy will be a failure, too, if it is prolonged, he warns.

If Congress wants to save money, Secretary Benson advises, it will look for a way to ditch the practice of underwriting agriculture during a technological revolution. Nearly 12 billion dollars has been frittered away since 1932, with no lasting benefit to anyone, least of all to operators of small farms who have been in the greatest distress.

Now is the time to put the cards on the table, in Mr. Benson's opinion - while politics is in a quiet season. With politics taken out of agricultural policy entirely, a solution to the problems of agriculture could be found, although that never will happen. But the secretary of agriculture thinks now is a good time to discuss the problems, because the latest presidential election is over and the next congressional election is still a safe distance in the

Did any cabinet officer ever before admit in a public statement that he was not in favor of continuing to give away public money to a pressure bloc with powerful spokesmen in Congress and ability to make or break politicians at the polls?

Air Traffic Control

The President's Aviation Facilities Planning Commission has done a diligent and imaginative job of charting proposals for improved air traffic control in the United States. But inescapably this program must be gradual.

Consequently, immediate interest also has been generated in a far more limited plan which could nevertheless take effect within a few months. Put forward as a joint project of the Air Transport Association and the Airline Pilots Association, it would affect traffic only in the "golden triangle" between New York, Washington and Chicago.

This program would place under so-called instrument flight rules all aircraft lying the triangle routes at altitutdes of 9,500 feet or greater. Practically speaking, this would include virtually all four-engined planes now traveling this course.

This would mean that the federal traffic control centers would monitor and guide these aircraft. They would not be allowed to fly "off airways" as so often at present, nor to resort to so-called visual flight rules except when climbing to or descending from 9,500 feet.

Visual flight rules were in operation for one of the two aircraft involved in the terrible collision over the Grand Canyon last summer. It was generally felt by pilots and others that the accident would have been avoided had one ship not been relying on the normally poor visibility possible in most modern planes.

The industry-union plan seems to make sense. Speedy adoption of it would appear to be very much in the interest of air safety.

Life On The Peaks

Stockholders attending the annual meeting of Unifed States Steel Corp. Monday expected to hear something said about the decline in demand for certain steel products.

They heard something, although it was not what some of them may have expected to hear. "We are experiencing some decline in demand for certain steel products," said Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board. "But overall demand is still very strong when compared with any period except the peaks; and theire is every indication that 1957 will be a good year for year, with total production coming very close to the high tonnage of last year, give or take a few percentage points."

Mr. Blough then went on to make an observation that has meaning for every business enterprise and every employe. "The most difficult and persistent problem that confronts the management of U.S. Steel," he declared," is not so much in coping with temporary drops in the operating rate as it is in trying, under the costprice circumstances we face, to keep pace with the enormous demand which lies ahead for steel . . . Those who become too preoccupied with little segments of time tend to forget that no form of human progress ever takes place at a perfectly regular rate." It is something to think about - that the way to the peaks always lies through the valleys.

We've often wondered why folks waste time on people who are hard to please.

THAT'S WHAT HAPPENED with the big "carryover" in the present fiscal year ending June 30 next. So, in a complex situation of this kind, it is important for the public to get all the facts before swallowing either the line that the budget can be cut by a certain number of billions or that tax reduction can be achieved next January, as some of the politicians are already saying because they know it pleases the voters.

The first and most impo point to be settled is whether tax reduction should come in times of prosperity.

Most economists think it should not. They believe that the present -when there is a boom in consumer spending and prices are high-is not time to add fuel to the inflationary flames.

The Democrats have always held to that philosophy, so it is a little surprising to see so many of their leaders in Congress promising a tax reduction for 1958 irrespective of what the situation may be on the inflationary front next Janu-

The next point to establish is whether conditions are or are not prosperous today and whether any stimulus is needed.

All the evidence points to the fact that business over-all is running at high levels and that declines in auto purchases, for instance, are being offset by rises

Also, the same authority says: "A new McGraw-Hill Survey-sugesting that business men in the aggregate are tending to step up, not cut back, their capital spending plans for 1957 and the years beyond-both reflects and contributes to a confident view."

It is to be noted that, despite the setbacks in the federal highway program, spending by state and city governments on public works is increasing.

Rather significantly the bank letter adds:

"But whereas in 1955 consumer expenditures and home buying were features of the recovery and last year business capital investment made a notable upsurge, now as dangerous as excessive spend- government spending is taking over a major role in the business advance.'

> With population growing and civilian demands increasing and with the constant need for replacing worn-out plants and modernizing factory equipment, the national economy has a certain momentum today but, if suddenly arrested by meat-a x e methods. "recession" and even a "depression" can be precipitated.

> THE FEDERAL RESERVE Board is keeping its restraint on lending but even this has not yet produced a decrease in the supply of money or brought about a trend toward lower interest rates.

> On the contrary, the federal government itself is still seeking lenders and is finding it necessary to pay higher interest rates than ever before for short-term borrowings. Hence it is obvious that the demand for funds is still greater than

It is unlikely that actual government spending will decline so as to cause the flow of many billions of dollars of income to the public to stop. If, nevertheless, taxes are reduced, the new income to individuals and to business will be used to bid up prices for goods wanted and will add to the total spending. Tax reduction is a proper stimulus in hard times. It becomes a stimulus to inflation and rising prices in boom times.

When will the boom times stop and hard times begin? Who wants to start a chain reaction toward a "recession"? Which party in Congress will take responsibility for

The visit was to wrap up a deal for a rotary lawnmower that can be attached to a power unit that has been the mainstay of a flourishing business for this young man since the end of World War II. These units, he said, are in such demand in this country and abroad that the manufacturer cannot catch up to standing orders. The young businessman estimates he could sell another carload this summer, if he could get the carload. But the carload is not in the cards, because the rush to the suburbs is absorbing the particular Love And The U. N.

A guard has been stationed outside United Nations Room for Prayer and Meditation, it is reported, because "neckers" have been using it. "Schoozing" has been encount ered by delegates retiring there for the deeper purpose of its dedication. (The U.N., it seems has trouble all over. It is frustrated even on its own premises.)

IF THE ORGANIZATION needs anything it needs prayer and meditation, with a proper respect from visitors. But love and tenderness are items of which little are seen in U.N. routine and this is no time to crack down on romance, the rapid heart-beat and the voice of the turtle.

It is helpful to know that in the glass skyscraper all is not envy, hate, rancor, strife, villification and angry rebuttal.

How comforting to get the news that somewhere in the building love is raising its gentle head!

A TORN AND TROUBLED world is done no harm by a report that, despite all the strident shouts of "Foul conspirator!" - "Vicious exploiter of the people" - "Shameless warmonger" and "Brutal capitalistic foe of peace," somewhere in the U.N. building there are voices whispering, "I love you," "Darling, we are meant for each other," and "Kiss me again. We've got time before the Security Council meets."

WE WOULD KEEP the guard at the Meditation Room, and perhaps add another. But we favor immediate action by U.N. in providing a different and larger room devoted exclusively to the arts of love and the furtherance of tender emotions.

We would equip it with cozy corners, screens, love-seats, flowers, shrubs, pools, fountains. lovebirds, statues of Cupid and push buttons for turning on soft music whenever the harsh voices of U.N. delegates in bitter debate became audible to the sentimentally inclined. Love conquers all, and perhaps history will Give U.N. an official Hall of Neckers! The world would do better in the hands of a boy and girl whispering sweet nothings than in the hands of any two dozen delegates.

People everywhere will feel less nervous if they picture Romeo and Juliet in the tall tower rather than Sobilev and Valerian Zorin. Gangway for love and let there be no open sky inspections!

FORTY-SEVEN CARS of the old New York Elevated Road are to be sold by New York, and don't scorn them. They can be made into better than fair summer cottages. This writer once lived in a trolley car converted into a bungalow without changing it very much and found it strictly okay, except for occasional illusions that we were going around a curve with the brakes not working. A Michigan State professor says that snakes are shy, sensitive and deaf. Even with that recommendation we can't use any today. Eugene O'Neill, dead, will have more plays on Broadway than when alive. "Long Day's Journey Into Night" and "Moon for the Misbegotten" are running and "Anna Christie" will come in soon as "New Girl in Town." Transforming the grim, tragic Anna Christie into a cheerful musical show will be the trick of the

DAR Chapters Plan Flag Day Program

Salem, East Liverpool and Lis-bon Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution will present a program in observance of flag day June 14 at the Methodist Church in Lisbon.

The program will follow a luncheon at 1 p.m. All DAR members in the county are invited.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made with Mrs. Charles D. Lewis of 347 Chestnut St., Lisbon by June 7. Detailed plans for the observance were outlined at a committee meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Edwin Kauffman of Lisbon. Mrs. Kauffman, dinner chairman, will also conduct the devotions.

Mrs. R. L. Cawood of East Liverpool heads the program committee comprised of Miss Eleanor Jane of history at Steubenville College Charles W. Ward, son of Mr. and man, and a short address by Gov. will be guest speaker. Mrs. Mae Smith of Columbiana Lincoln Ave.

WAITING FOR THE WORD-These dogs all want to tear into the bones in the center of the circle, but none of them will make a move. They're showing their obedience at an obedience school for dogs in Clapham district of London.

FIRST FLIGHT-Mrs. Fanny Moss, 88, the oldest passenger, and one-year-old Susan Nadler, the youngest, take their first airplane trip on the inaugural DC-7 nonstop Mercury flight from Cleveland to Los Angeles. Airline stewardess Betty Jeffreys holds Susan, who was accompanied on the flight by her mother.

Kate Roosevelt Charms The British

naid acts a closeup of quardsman at Buckingham.

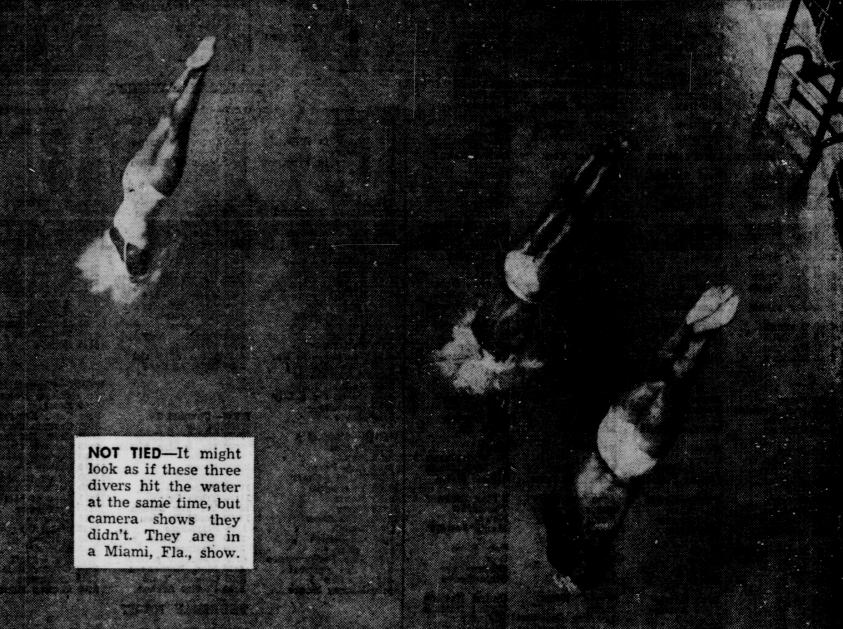

Making friends with pigeons is fun in Trafalgar square.

DIPLOMAT without portfolio might be a title for Kate Roosevelt, granddaughter of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Kate lives in the U.S. embassy in London with her stepfather, Ambassador John Hay Whitney, and her mother, the former Betsy Cushing. Kate, whose father is James Roosevelt, has served as embassy hostess during the illness of her mother. She also works in her office at the embassy. Her friendly, "Hi, I'm Kate," has succeeded in defrosting some of the more protocol-minded visitors to the embassy. She is frequently seen around some of the popular tourist attractions in city of London.

Kare does some of her work in her office at embassy.

CUTIES IN THE OLD CORRAL-The old west never looked like this, we'll bet. Although the girls in this lineup are mostly dudes from back east, the owner of this Montana ranch will certainly hate to see them ride out of town.

Cleveland Defeats New York Yanks 2-1

CLEVELAND (P)-Not for two or three days-possibly longer-will doctors be able to tell how serfously Herb Score, Cleveland's southpaw strikeout king, was injured Tuesday night when a line drive struck him in the right eye.

The ball, hit by Gil McDougald, veteran New York Yankee inknocked Score to the but he remained conscious. Two cuts were inflictedone along the eyebrow and the other on the side of his nose, and he bled profusely from the nose and mouth

He could distinguish light from dark with the damaged eye, Dr. Don Kelly, Tribe physician, said after a preliminary examination.

"He could be perfectly all right, but we just won't know for two or three days," Kelly said.

His eye swathed in bandages, Score listened in a Lakeside Hospital bed to a radio broadcast of the late innings in which the Indians won their initial 1957 game with the Yankees 2-1.

As his eyes swelled shut and he soaked up blood with a towel, the 23 - year - old pitching ace maintained the poise which has characterized him since he came up to the major leagues in the 1955 season. On the trainer's table he cracked jokes to team mates who were fighting to keep back tears.

The crowd of 18,386 was stunned when Score went down, and many heard the thud of the ball hitting him. Prayerfully the fans waited for what little news could be given them on the public address system about the injury.

The pitch McDougald hit was only the 12th one Score threw and it came on a 2-2 count. Score said. "it was right down the middle-maybe a little low-and probably straight as a string, and it came back that way.

"I didn't see the ball until it got a foot or two from my face.

Only Half Game Out Of Second Place

BROOKLYN (A) - Everything broke right for the Cincinnati Red legs Tuesday night.

They combined Hal Jeffcoat's complete-game pitching with some lusty hitting for a 9-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers-the eighth straight triumph on the current Eastern tour.

To go with that, Philadelphia beat Milwaukee and the Reds moved to within a game and a half of first place. There was an extra bit of good fortune as the New York Giants whipped the St. Louis Cardinals to drop the fourth place Cards two full games behind the Reds.

Cincinnati's triumph over Brooklyn cut the second place Dodgers' lead over the Rhinelanders to a half game. They will swap places in the standings tonight if the Reds win again.

The Reds got to Johnny Podres and his two successors for 14 hits with the "little men" in the lineup-Johnny Temple, Don Hoak and Roy McMillan-getting six of the blows and getting on base 11

Jeffcoat, meanwhile, held the Dodgers to six hits as he won his first game in Ebbetts Field.

A bad throw by Ed Bailey helped the Dodgers to an unearned run in the opening inning but the Reds got off and running with a pair of tallies in the second. Frank Robinson's double, a walk to Hoak and McMillan's double did the damage.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P) - The Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rice called House passed a state milk price on Mrs. Persilla Kline of Colum-control bill Tuesday after a 90minute battle royal.

The bill got 71 favorable votes, one more than a bare majority of the elected members of the House. The squeak moved a Statehouse wage to observe:

"The milk bill skimmed through the House, but wait till it curdles in the Senate."

With the Legislature striving to end its session by month's end, the bare majority the milk bill mustered to build up no great enthusiasm for it in the Senate. The milk bill was deeply scarred before its narrow approval in the House. Stricken from the measure was an entire section which would have provided so-called "fair trade" regulations aimed mainly at distributors. Other amendments to strike important features from the bill failed by one and two ONE FINED IN LISBON LISBON - One East Liverpool
